Effex was the only LP that we were receiving PFOF.
According to Effex, it has ended and accounting has confirmed it

Hi guys,

I wanted to confirm that there is no payment for order flow anywhere in the company at this stage.
Sal and Paresh are overseeing our relationships with price providers – guys please correct me if I am wrong here.

Thanks Janelle.

Then I will just wait till further notice from you or Ornit and not work on the removal of those languages at this moment.

Regards,
Wilson

Janelle,

I am now working with HK Marketing for the website update as FXCM Asia is asked to launch it in early Sep.

Can we assume the payment of order flow will be terminated once we move to commission fee based business model ?

Regards,
Wilson

Sam, thanks for the information. We have discussed within Compliance as well, and we are preparing for the transition.

I spoke with Ornit this morning and I understand the final timeline for removing PFOF has not yet been determined.

Ken – can you please take the lead here and coordinate with your global counterparts on updates across all entities and marketing materials. I'll come by to discuss.

Saw this line in the disclaimer on the spreads pages under the Execution Disclaimer. "Please note that FXCM may receive payment for order flow from its liquidity providers."

I read through the FCA doc that came out last week and saw a bullet point on this matter. I know Drew said he was going to address. Not sure if you have followed up with him but if he has addressed this then we should look to take this off our sites and anywhere else if we can do so.
